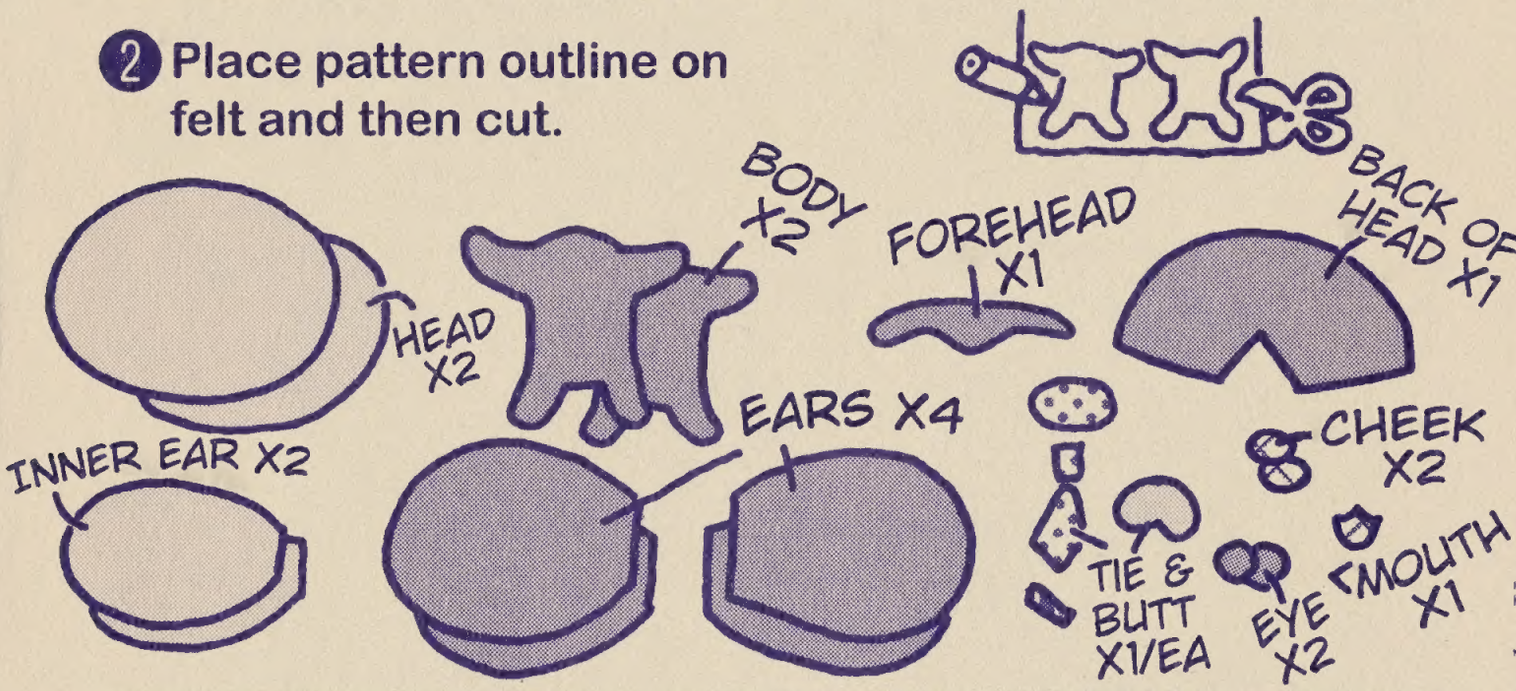
How to Make Chu!!

1. Place thin paper over page 97 to trace pattern and cut it out.

2. Place pattern outline on felt and then cut.



3. Sew each matching part together, and stuff with cotton wadding before sewing it shut. (Sew with white thread on skin/flesh colored face, and pale blue thread on pale blue felt)

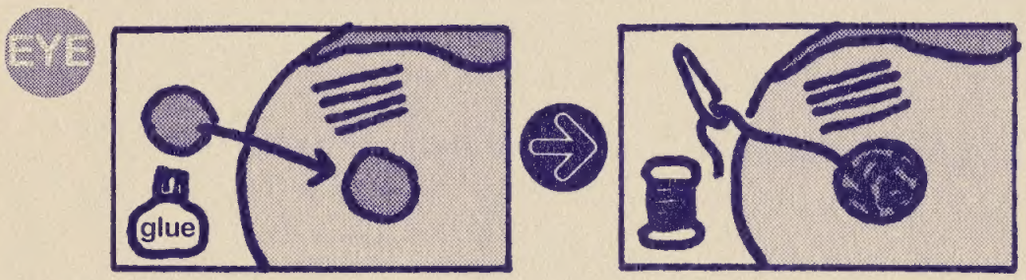
4 Start with the face, then sew on ears.



◀Eyes are blue felt. Glue them onto face, then embroider over them with black. Be careful not to stitch outside the eyes.

5 Sew the body together and stuff with cotton. Then attach necktie, tail, and butt.

6 Connect head to body to finish!

Vanna's Tips

Here's a clean pattern sheet to cut up!

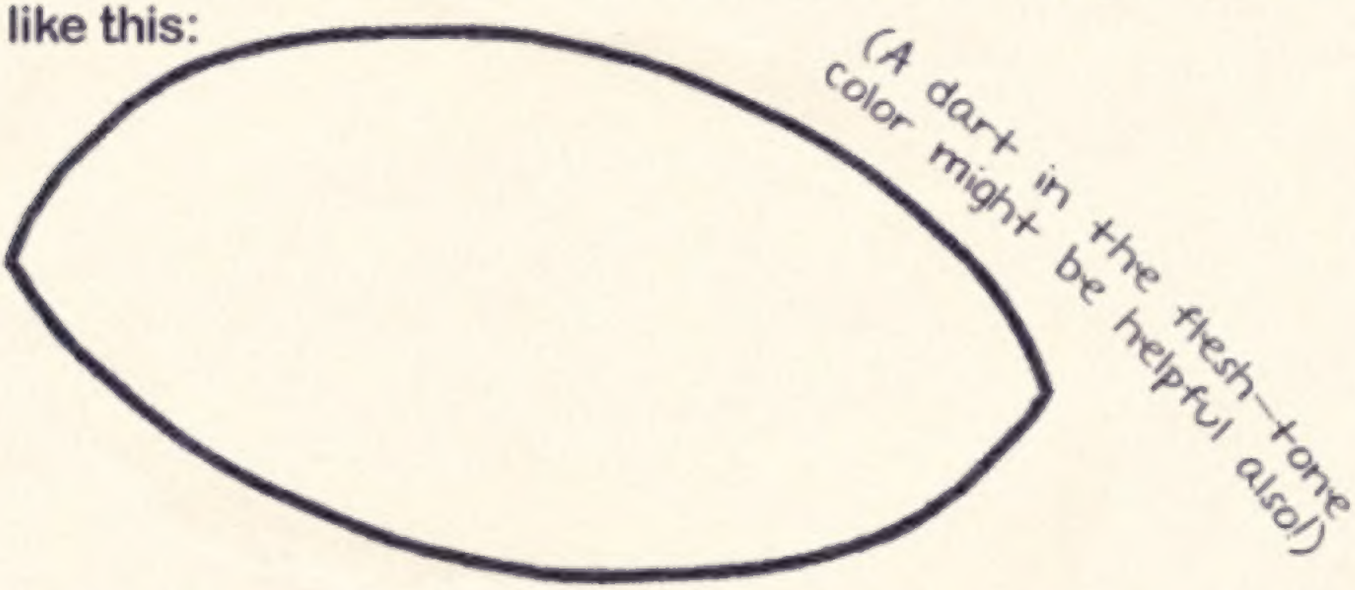
Most importantly... HAVE FUN! :D

- The finished Chu-chus have a tongue that's lighter pink than the cheeks, though the guide only says to use one pink. I included felt and thread to do it either way.

- I used one thread for everything except the black, for which I used two. They have already been separated. <3

- I used three pipe cleaners twisted together for the tail. There is also enough blue felt that you can make one that way.

- I found I needed to add a dart of blue fabric to the back of the head to make the front and back meet right. Kinda like this:



- The only things missing from this kit are scissors, glue, and a pen to trace with! And you don't need the glue, because I've included everything you need to sew it all.
